

Name _____

Date _____

More Than Meets the Eye

Can you find 15 prepositions, conjunctions, and interjections in all?

In each sentence below, circle each preposition, draw a triangle around each conjunction, and draw a box around each interjection.

Then draw the matching symbol or symbols under the sentence, write the word inside, and explain its function in the sentence.

1. Quiet! The queen has a quick but quite important question for you. Quiet! gets attention but for	2. Wow, Fran finally found her French horn at 5:15.	3. Theresa tries on two pairs of turquoise tennis shoes.	4. Jonathan gently jiggled the jar of jelly beans.	5. Stan saw six slithering snakes, so he skedaddled.
6. Ooh! Did Paul put peanuts on his pepperoni pizza?	7. For her birthday, Bailey bought bright blue and yellow balloons.	8. Late last night, Angela and Earl ate all eight of the apricot pies.	9. After dinner, Marty made a mini marshmallow mountain.	10. Good grief, that gorilla is glaring at us!

Bonus: Write a sentence that includes a preposition, a conjunction, and an interjection.

Answer Key for “More Than Meets the Eye”

1. Quiet: interjection—gets attention; but: conjunction—contrasts quick and quite; for: preposition—tells relationship
2. Wow: interjection—exclaims surprise; at: preposition—tells time
3. on: preposition—tells relationship; of: preposition—tells relationship
4. of: preposition—tells relationship
5. so: conjunction—connects two independent clauses
6. Ooh: interjection—exclaims surprise; on: preposition—tells relationship
7. For: preposition—tells relationship; and: conjunction—connects two adjectives
8. and: conjunction—connects two nouns; of: preposition—tells relationship
9. After: preposition—tells when
10. Good grief: interjection—expresses concern; at: preposition—tells where

Bonus: Sentences will vary.