

The FBI And The Apple Pie

Congratulations! You have just been named the head investigator of The Applesauce Double Cross! Here are the facts:

- Eight apples were bought to make applesauce.
- The apples have disappeared.
- An apple pie was found cooling in the kitchen.
- Several witnesses have come forward.
- You have recorded the clues on the notecards below.

Now it's time to put the clues in "apple-pie order" and discover what has happened. List the clues in the correct order on the lines below and solve the case of The Applesauce Double Cross.

Mildred G. Delicious was caught wearing hot mitts and taking something out of the oven.

The oven was on when Jonathan Gala had his coffee break.

I discovered a great birthday surprise.

An undercover agent claimed that Corey Cortland cored the apples.

Max McIntosh saw Agent Gertrude "Granny" Smith peeling the apples.

Winston "The Worm" Spry was said to have sliced the apples into a shallow pan.

I entered the room as everyone yelled, "Surprise!"

Anna Appleby was seen washing the apples and placing them in a bowl.

A distinct cinnamon smell was in the air when Mr. Hector Hedmin, the director, left the kitchen.

Ms. Orchard's floury fingerprints were found on a rolling pin.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____
9. _____
10. _____

Answer Key for “The FBI And The Apple Pie”

Answers may vary slightly.

1. Anna Appleby was seen washing the apples and placing them in a bowl.
2. Max McIntosh saw Agent Gertrude “Granny” Smith peeling the apples.
3. An undercover agent claimed that Corey Cortland cored the apples.
4. Ms. Orchard’s floury fingerprints were found on a rolling pin.
5. Winston “The Worm” Spry was said to have sliced the apples into a shallow pan.
6. The oven was on when Jonathan Gala had his coffee break.
7. A distinct cinnamon smell was in the air when Mr. Hector Hedmin, the director, left the kitchen.
8. Mildred G. Delicious was caught wearing hot mitts and taking something out of the oven.
9. You were seen entering the room as everyone yelled, “Surprise!”
10. You discovered a great birthday surprise.